

Hello

By placing your baby with a loving family through adoption, you are displaying awe-inspiring bravery. We recognize that incredible beauty and strength of love that you have, and your baby will forever know and feel that love!

If God places in your heart that we are the right fit, we assure you that your child will receive stability, protection, and above all, LOVE. Love that is unmeasurable, unconditional, playful, and unwavering. Love that will never need to be questioned. Love from two big (but still little) sisters, adoring grandparents, an abundance of aunts, uncles, and cousins, the love from heaven above, and of course, from two sets of parents – birth and adopted. If you place your child with us, we are forever tied together.

As you attempt to look at the world through your child's eyes, to select a family in his/her best interest, not only are you viewing us as parents, but you are selecting siblings for your child to grow with. We both came from large families, and the highlight of our childhood was that we had our brothers/sisters by our side, experiencing our family traditions, adventures, joys, and challenges. There was always someone to play and laugh with, filling our childhood homes with tremendous joy and laughter.

We know this adventure will be forever engrained in our hearts and minds, as we memorize every detail of our adoption journey.
