

As you explore your options, we are greatly humbled that you are taking some time to see our life.

We recognize that you are reading this letter during a complicated and seemingly impossible time in your life, brought here through reasons that are beyond us all. The love you have for your child runs deeply through your soul. You would not be standing freely in this difficult position without that incredible love. Our hope for you is that you find comfort in knowing that God is in every detail navigating you through every step, whether you choose to parent or adopt. So, just breathe! He already knows how this journey travels. Although we can not ease the emotion and stress this process puts you through, please know that we pray for you to have clarity and strength as you walk in this space you are in.

Our adventure in growing a family began with a lot of heartache. God has sent us on a quest where we have changed lanes many times, but that is generally how life tends to go for us all. We experienced multiple miscarriages. At the time, it was hard to see God's plan in that mess and it was hard to understand the why in that suffering. Nevertheless, God always provides and continued to supply joy in our life, and opened up the possibility of adoption. A totally unpredictable and marvelous story began to unfold. We placed our adoption process on hold when we learned that we were expecting our first child, and this time, for real! Then, another miracle followed shortly after as our second daughter was born. We never imagined such a masterpiece would be called our story. God initially led us to believe that our first child was meant to join our family through adoption, when in fact, His intention was for us to complete our family through adoption. The baby of the family is the missing piece of our masterpiece. It is a privilege to grow our family through adoption and we are so excited to become parents once again!

We have the space in our hearts and home for adoption and we are fully open to all that comes. To put it bluntly, we are all in! We are not the perfect family, and we do not have all the answers. Life continues to teach us lessons, and we are grateful for the hard lessons that cause us to grow. Thank you for taking the time to get to know us.
