

Dear Expectant Parent,

The adoption process is as much about the birth parents as it is the child. Your concerns, desires, fears, and dreams are important to us.

Our desire to adopt stems from several life experiences, but most especially from the deep and sure knowledge that God is calling us to expand our family in this way. We know that adoption is a way that God has provided for us to be a community, a way for us to serve and care for one another.

God bless you!

— Vance and Kasey